Introduction

Unlocking Financial Success

Through a new technology called NFT (Non-Fungible Tokens), our company has created the opportunity to allocate shares in the company without issuing stocks. Instead, we can offer 20% of our business shares to investors identified through NFTs. These investors directly participate in actual business profits and are anchored in ownership through their NFTs. We have several approaches to determine NFT prices and groups, but acknowledge that this will only be achievable with substantial capital and a large investor community.

Current Financial Landscape

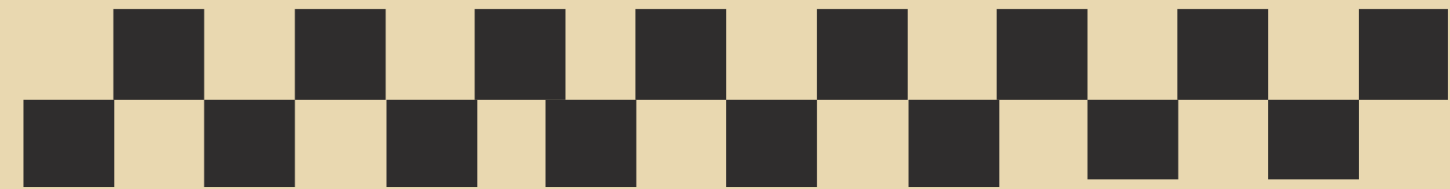

Navigating the Economic Terrain

In the current financial landscape, characterized by a dynamic and challenging environment, it is crucial for companies like Jumpbuz to navigate through the various challenges and opportunities. The global financial markets have undergone significant changes in recent years, presenting both opportunities and risks for innovative companies like ours. We believe that we can play a significant international role if Edelmoor successfully completes a financing round.
